Fairmont State College

Fairmont, West Virginia

Volume 63

Nineteen hundred and seventy-three

This Is Fairmont State College . . .

Fairmont State College, a coeducational institution was founded in 1865, and established as a state institution in 1867 known as Fairmont State Normal School. It became Fairmont State Teachers College in 1931 and the name Fairmont State College was adopted in 1943.

Steady growth has marked its more than a century of providing an enlightened environment for the education for students from all over America. In the past decade, the size of its student body, as well as its facilities and programs, have increased in response to its principal objective, that of educating its students as intelligent and productive citizens of the twentieth century.

Summer 1972

The need of education never stops on the FSC campus. During the summer, the college offers two terms of summer school with a variety of courses offered for the summer school students.

But along with its academic program the FSC campus also offers a vast array of activities for both students and citizens of Fairmont. From productions of the Masquers Town and Gown Players to parties thrown by the Student Council to maintenance work, the campus stays alive throughout the year with activities.

Classes

Students at Fairmont State College have a variety of departments and divisions ready to serve them and their needs. With a break down of thirteen divisions, the FSC student has a choice to enter into practically any field he wishes.

Twelve major buildings occupy the eighty acre campus which house the various departments and divisions which range from Fine Arts to Industrial-Technical Education.

From its Governing Board to its Administration and faculty, Fairmont State College has upheld a long tradition of meeting the students' requirements.

And As The Hours Of The Day
Pass Into The Hours Of The Night
Life Continues . . .
Bringing Forth A Need.
A Need For Accomplishment
For Recognition And For Love.
Since No One Cannot Stop The Ebb And Flow Of Life
Or Retrace Their Sometimes Faltering Steps
We Continue . . .
But As We Continue
We Hope That Someday, Somewhere, Someone
Will Profit From What We Have Given To This Life.

DIVISION OF EDUCATION

The education of teachers at Fairmont State College is designed to utilize the cooperative functions of the several subject matter areas and the division of professional education. The philosophy of the College is that adequate preparation for teaching requires rich and comprehensive experiences in the area of general education, concentration in a comprehensive or in two of the subject matter fields, and the development of certain attitudes, skills and understanding which characterize effective teaching.

Fairmont State College offers teaching curricula leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education. Students satisfactorily completing the teaching curriculum in a given area will qualify for a Professional Certificate grades K-8, 1-9, 1-12 or 7-12.

DIVISION OF HOME ECONOMICS

Home Economics has the dual role of first developing concepts, skills and values that contribute to family life and secondly, teaching these skills for gainful employment. It has drawn basic principles from the fine arts, physical sciences, social sciences and practical arts, applying them to human development and family living. Home Economics includes a study of: enjoyable foods that are nutritionally adequate; artistic clothing that is inexpensive; convenient houses that are comfortable; consumer knowledge of time, money and energy; and families in which child rearing and relationships are understood so as to improve family life.

DIVISION OF LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

The Division of Language and Literature is composed of the departments of English, French, German, Journalism and Library Science.

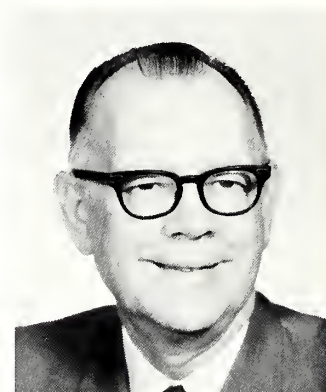

The English program is designed to provide instruction in the English language and in literature written in English as part of the college's educational program, thereby developing increased proficiency in communication skills and encouraging judgement and appreciation of the values of literature for the individual and for society.

The fields of French and German takes into consideration instruction in civilization and culture in all programs. Students preparing to teach language and those preparing for the fields of international relations, have available a series of courses in conversation and composition to establish these advanced skills.

The Journalism program is designed to meet the needs of both teaching and non-teaching students. Its objectives are to develop an awareness of the tremendous impact of the mass media on society and to build a knowledge of the history of communications, its importance, laws, ethics and limitations of its freedom.

The chief function of the Library Science curriculum is to prepare students for careers in elementary or secondary school librarianship.

DIVISION OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

The chief functions of the Library Science curriculum is to prepare students for careers in elementary or secondary school librarianship. To this purpose all of the courses emphasize school library applications. The program also provides an introduction to library science for students interested in going on to graduate study in the library field. Moreover, other students, regardless of subject interests or career goals, can profitably elect courses from the library science offerings.

DEPARTMENT OF NURSING EDUCATION

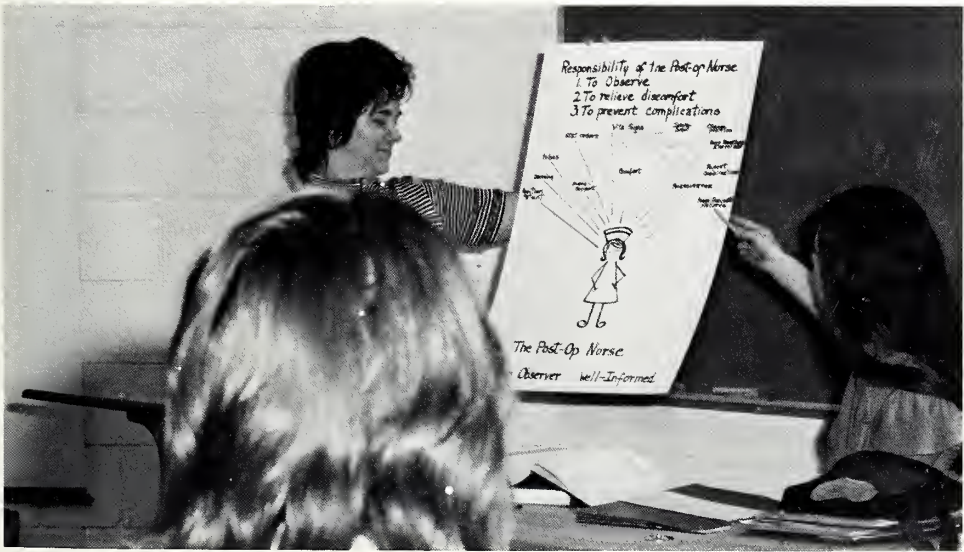

MILLER DR. MARTHA
Prof.; Nursing Chairman

The two-year technical or semi-professional nursing program is designated to prepare beginning practitioners of nursing at the staff level. The curriculum includes a balance between nursing and non-nursing courses; learning experiences in the college and clinical laboratories make up a major portion of the nursing courses. Clinical labs may include the local hospital, clinics, schools, home for the aged and the state hospital at Weston.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The Division of Social Science is composed of the Departments of History, Geography, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology and Sociology.

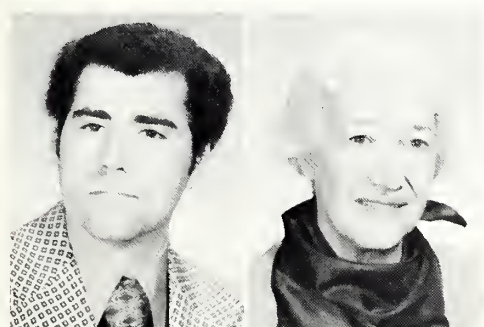

A full range of courses is available to the History major and minor, including extensive coverage of United States and European history and surveys of the major regions of the world.

The course offerings in Geography emphasize the earth's physical environment and its influences upon the development of human culture. The field of Philosophy offers classes which pertain to the idea that philosophy examines the premises on which systematic thought may rest; it explores the types of thought that may be produced in such areas of concern as ethics, politics, aesthetics, metaphysics and epistemology.

A major in Political Science is designed to provide understanding of the realities of the modern world for the effective discharge of civic responsibility and for those students who wish to prepare for positions in government service or for the graduate study in international relations, law, journalism, teaching, or allied fields.

The Psychology Curriculum at Fairmont State College represents the dynamic place that psychology, the science of behavior holds in the evolution of academia and society.

The Sociology Department attempts to deepen students' questioning and understanding of social interaction in its various forms and of social and cultural systems.

DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH AND DRAMA

Oral communication, man's chief means of communication, has as its purpose to gain utilitarian, aesthetic, and therapeutic results in effective human interaction. All oral communication — public speaking, small group processes, theater, speech correction and audiology, radio and television, speech education and the allied performance areas are tied together by common elements of behavior and techniques. The Speech and Drama Department has as its primary aim to assist students in understanding these functions, processes and effects of oral communication and to teach the principles and methods that make the spoken word effective.

COLLEGIATES

Dreams of visiting Europe became reality for Fairmont State College's Touring Choir, The Collegiates, when they were selected to compete in the Anglo-International Music Festival in Coventry England, last fall.

The dream was complete when the singers placed second out of ten other American groups, receiving a silver plaque and huge trophy commemorating the event.

Of the four judges who judged the contest, three were from England and one from Rome. According to Miss Frances Moody, directress of the Collegiates, standards of musicianship were extremely high.

The trip was financed in parts by the students, money making projects, choral funds, contributions and the proceeds from concerts presented before departure.

The chaperones, in addition to Miss Moody, were Professor and Mrs. Richard Wellock and Dr. and Mrs. James Hales.

In 12 days, they visited three countries, Holland, France and England. They sang at Sunday morning service in a 12th century church in Bozun, Holland; they performed at the Chartres Cathedral in France; then concluded at the festival in Coventry, England.

Will he take the right road?

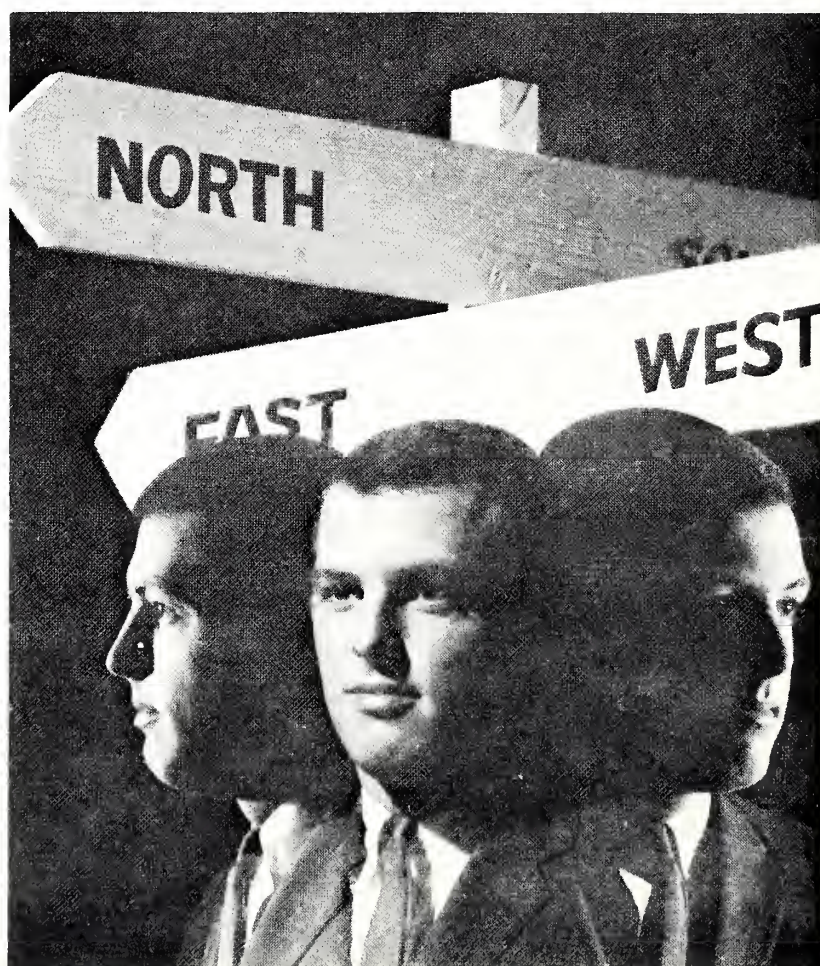

On the threshold of his career.
He can go in many directions.
We think the right road is here in West Virginia.

Our young people need new jobs and greater opportunities. This is one of the reasons Hope Natural Gas has a vigorous industrial development program to bring new enterprises into West Virginia.
That young man is one of our state's most valuable resources.
We want him to stay here.

A MAN CAN GROW

-And Keep On Growing

WITH OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS COMPANY

Ours is a growing company—and we can grow together in fields where a man has ample opportunity and room to carve out a satisfying life-time career.

We offer you stability that is inherent in the business of manufacturing and distributing a variety of goods, continually being broadened by the development of new products reaching new markets.

You can enjoy the advantages that come from association with a company which is outstanding in reputation and prestige in its field.

You can benefit from a training program that has proved its worth to a large number of young men during the past several years as we have expanded our operations.

You can have the security to be found in an organization where men stay and grow with a growing company, where there are liberal life and health insurance plans, and solidly established retirement plans.

- OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS COMPANY LINES INCLUDE:
- Duraglas bottles and jars • Closures
 - Plastic containers • Plastic fittings
 - Corrugated paper shipping boxes
 - Multiwall bags • Kraft paper for boxes
 - Glass television bulbs • Glass tubing
 - Glass rod • Electrical insulators
 - Laboratory glass • Vials • Ampuls
 - Libbey Safedge tumblers and stemware
 - Glass block • Hardwood panels and doors

We are interested in qualified young men with either technical or non-technical backgrounds for training in sales, production management or general engineering. We invite those interested to write directly to:
